Keane Business Risk Management Solutions Launches SCORE 3.3

Enhancements improve supervision of enterprise governance, risk and compliance management

Wayne, PA – April 3, 2008 – Keane Business Risk Management Solutions today unveiled Keane SCORE 3.3 continuing the evolution of empowering companies to measure and monitor enterprise-wide Governance, Risk and Compliance (GRC) management.

SCORE 3.3 delivers assurance to those responsible for GRC, regardless of level, that important risk, control, and compliance activities are continuously and proactively addressed. Through customizable automated alerts and enterprise-wide dashboarding, decision-enabling information is delivered on a real time basis simplifying data gathering and analysis for risk management and compliance activities.

“Companies in almost every industry face significant challenges in streamlining and collaborating on risk and compliance management initiatives,” said Peter Teuten,

President of Keane BRMS and the chief architect of SCORE. “Decision makers need one-click access to ongoing monitoring and accurate measurement rather than laborious and manual interpretation of spreadsheets. We let the technology drive this process, and we will continue to enhance the platform based upon the day-to-day needs of SCORE users.”

SCORE 3.3 also includes new custom templates and historical benchmarking features for its fully integrated Audit Module launched by Keane in 2007. In addition, new system-driven processes have been developed to help ensure that evidentiary documentation is recorded and available for later reference – including Internal Audit.

Keane BRMS has developed a number of SCORE-based applications and modules to address compliance and risk management in both a custom environment and to address a number of regulatory authorities including the SEC in the US and FSA in the UK. The tool provides up-to-the minute evaluations and constant risk profiles and mappings while closing the loop between internal audit, risk and compliance.
